Master Gardeners Complete 1st Phase Of Lions Club Project

Fulton County Master Gardeners recently completed the first phase of a landscaping project at Lions Club Park. Additional plantings, including a demonstration pollinator garden, are planned for this season.

derful dogs.

The Fulton County Master Gardeners will be presenting at the spring gardening workshop this Saturday, May 9, at the Fulton County Fairgrounds from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and will be available throughout the summer to answer questions about gardening by calling the Penn State Cooperative Extension Office at 485-4111.

Librarian Attends Conference

Cindy Fraker, librarian at McCConnellsburg High School and Middle School, attended the 36th annual Pennsylvania School Librarians Association Conference at the Penn State Conference Center at State College, April 30 to May 2, 2009. The theme for the conference was "Evidence Found!!! @your library." A tour of the forensics buildings on the Penn State campus was a highlight of the conference this year.

Speakers included educational consultant Dr. Ross J. Todd, book author and illustrator Adam Rex, and author Rick Riordan.

More than 70 different workshop sessions dealt with topics and issues relating to school librarians and their role in education. Fraker was a speaker at the conference, along with Tom Reinsfelder, Reference Librarian at Penn State Mont Alto, and Jill Thompson, librarian at Greencastle High School, she presented information about the Dual Enrollment services the schools received through a Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) grant. Chambersburg and Waynesboro High Schools also participated in the grant. Students at McCConnellsburg High School who are also taking online classes through Mont Alto for college credit are called "dual enrollment" students. Through this grant, the school received books and technology to support these students. The students also visited the Mont Alto campus and were oriented to the college library.

More than 75 PSLA exhibitors had display booths set up in the conference exhibit area and approximately 650 school librarians from Pennsylvania attended the conference this year.

Ban To Be Signed On Driving With Hand-Held Phones

PHILADELPHIA (AP) – Philadelphia's ban on the use of handheld cell phones while driving is about to become law.

Mayor Michael Nutter is scheduled to sign the measure on Thursday.

Enforcement will start in November, but it will be primarily on city streets.

State police now have primary responsibility for patrolling the interstates in the city of Philadelphia and spokeswoman Cpl. Linette Quinn says state police don't enforce local ordinances. That will include the new cell phone law. Quinn says there's nothing to stop city police from citing drivers on the interstates, but state police won't be pulling over motorists for that offense.

Sheffield Bags Coyote

Sixteen-year-old Dustin Sheffield harvested a 36-pound coyote in Bethel Township while calling in a gobbler on Saturday morning. Dustin is the son of Roger and Ann Sheffield of Waterfall.

FCCCS Honor Roll

SHAWN MEYERS FOR JUDGE

OF THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS FOR THE 39th JUDICIAL DISTRICT

Trial court judges can decide which parent gets custody, how long a criminal spends in jail, if a contract has been breached, if your business is owed money, if your neighbor built a fence on your property, if a municipal ordinance is lawful, or if a disabled individual is in need of a guardian. The list of ways trial court judges can affect your life goes on. Only one candidate has the depth of experience to be an effective trial court judge from day one. Shawn Meyers brings over 15 years of experience in the areas of the law that trial court judges face every day.
